

NATO will not close the sky over Ukraine
«We have a responsibility to protect our own people»
(Annalena Berbok, Minister of Foreign Affairs of Germany)

Volodymyr Zelensky: «How many more deaths and losses are needed, to secure the sky over Ukraine? How do peaceful people in Kharkiv or Mykolayiv differ from Hamburg or Vienna?»

«Partners of Ukraine are pleased to sit in cozy cafes and look at photos of Ukrainian cities, which are broadcast live destroyed from the face of the earth»
(Mykhailo Podoliak, Advisor to the Head of the President's Office)

*Та буде ще Європа, курва хижка,
 Здивована, побачивши з вікна,
 Як танки йдуть по вулицях Парижа,
 Чужі, немов залізна сарана...*

Dmytro Pavlychko, поет

*Und es wird Europa geben, eine Hurenbeute,
 Überrascht aus dem Fenster zu sehen
 Während Panzer durch die Straßen von Paris laufen,
 Fremd wie eine Eisenheuschrecke...*

Dmytro Pavlychko, Dichter

*And there will be the Europe, the predatory whore,
 Surprised to see from the window
 As tanks walk the streets of Paris,
 Strangers like an iron locust...*

Dmytro Pavlychko, poet

*Et il y aura l'Europe, une putain rapace,
 Surpris de voir par la fenêtre
 Alors que les chars rampent dans les rues de Paris,
 Des étrangers comme une sauterelle de fer...*

Dmytro Pavlychko, poète

President of Lithuania Gitanas Nausėda:
«If we want to avoid the Third World War, we must help Ukraine»

Volodymyr Zelensky: «We have to endure what no other nation in Europe has seen in 80 years. And it is on our land that it is decided whether someone else in Europe will fall victim to the same aggression»
